

BASIC SKILLS

I teach Basic Skills Math to grades 4-6. Lessons are based upon a combination of what students are studying in their classrooms, basic Standards, and preparations for the SLA test. I typically meet with students 1-2 times per week in a small group setting and sometimes join the other math teachers in the whole class setting.

In our small groups, we learn using a variety of activities. We use centers, group activities, games, and computer programs to build our skills. Using different activities makes learning math more interesting and touches upon all learning styles.
